Introduction

Simple, straightforward insurance is what our valued customers in the charity and voluntary sector have been asking for. This new guide is one way we thought we could help make things easier by providing a simple way of explaining the types of insurance cover you might need.

With 100 years' experience of working with organisations like yours we understand the challenges you face. We offer comprehensive, specialist insurance cover and practical risk management solutions to give you the peace of mind you need.

As Zurich's Head of Charities I want to make getting the right cover for your charity easy. We are committed to meeting the needs of today's charities and we have the expertise to ensure you get the cover you need.

I welcome your feedback about the usefulness of this guide or any other ways we can help make insurance easier for you and I look forward to working with you.

Why choose Zurich

When it comes to selecting the right insurance, you require a provider with the strength, size and experience to support you. At Zurich, we have insured not for profit organisations for over 100 years and currently work with more than 16,000 charitable and voluntary organisations.

What's more, as a leading employers and public liability insurer, we have the products and expertise to cover a wide range of risks, including loss of funds, health and safety, event management and partnership working.

Naturally, you also need a provider that makes it easy to choose and benefit from your insurance. That's why our services include direct access to experts and underwriters, insurance tailored to your individual needs, advice that helps reduce your claims and costs, and a fast, simple claims procedure.

After all, as an organisation committed to helping others, you deserve an offering equally committed to supporting you.

What types of insurance do you need?

By asking five simple questions we can give you a brief overview of the main types of insurance you may need.

1. Do you have employees?

In this section we've outlined key features of Employers' Liability insurance, Fidelity Guarantee insurance, Money insurance, Legal Expenses insurance and Personal Accident insurance.

2. Do you have volunteers?

In this section we've outlined key features for the main types of cover you need including Public Liability, Personal Accident and Money.

3. Do you have property and contents you want to protect?

In this section we've covered key features of Material Damage insurance, Business Interruption insurance, Engineering insurance, Terrorism insurance and Deterioration of Stock insurance.

4. Do you work and communicate with the public and volunteers?

In this section we cover key features for Trustee and Trust Fund Liability insurance, Professional Negligence insurance, Hirers' Liability insurance and Libel and Slander insurance.

5. Does your organisation own and use motor vehicles?

In this section we cover key features for motor insurance.

1. Do you have employees?

If you employ people you are required by law to have Employer's Liability insurance, the section below details the key features of Employer's Liability cover and provides an overview of other types of insurance that might be relevant to your organisation.

Employer's liability insurance provides compensation for your employees if they are injured through work. This is a legal requirement for anyone employed under a contract of service. Cover includes:

- damages and legal costs if an employee is injured or dies up to the amount of cover that's been agreed
- a minimum level of cover of £10,000,000
- compensation for court attendance as a witness in connection with a claim under this policy
- people on work experience with your organisation
- terrorism up to £5,000,000 covering injuries to employees that occur as a result of a terrorist act.

Fidelity Guarantee

If your employees work closely with the organisation's money or stock you could also choose to take Fidelity Guarantee insurance. Fidelity Guarantee insurance covers your organisation's money and property against dishonesty by your employees during the course of their work. As well as covering the value of the loss it also covers investigation costs and expenses incurred in proving the loss, up to a maximum of 10% of the claim. This 10% is over and above the limit of cover on your policy. You can request higher limits of cover for key personnel who deal with money on a daily basis eg. Finance Directors.

Money

If your employees handle money or stock at work, take money to the bank and/or if you have an overnight safe on your premises you may consider taking Money insurance. Cover includes:

- any loss of notes, coins, bill of exchange, luncheon vouchers, uncrossed cheques, Giro cheques, postal orders, postage stamps, etc belonging to you or for which you have responsibility
- up to £500 for damage to personal effects following a robbery
- replacement cost of franking machines, safes, strong rooms or security cases damaged as a result of a robbery

- up to £1,000 to replace safe or strong room locks made necessary by theft of keys (except where the keys have been left on premises closed for business purposes)
- personal accident cover for people assaulted while entrusted with money.

Legal Expenses

If you want cover for legal costs that may arise from employment disputes you can consider Legal Expenses insurance.

Legal Expenses insurance covers:

- unfair dismissal
- employment compensation awards
- legal defence costs
- property protection, bodily injury
- tax protection including investigations by the Inland Revenue.

You can also extend the cover to include:

- contract disputes
- statutory licence protection where there is a threat of a licence being altered or revoked (for example drink, gaming machines or entertainment)
- employment practices.

Personal Accident

If you have employees who work in vulnerable situations you may want to consider taking Personal Accident insurance to protect them. This provides compensation if an employee is injured or assaulted while working for you and can cover:

- accidents and assault or just accidents
- official duties in connection with the business or organisation, including commuting.

2. Do you have volunteers?

If you work with volunteers the main types of cover you should consider are:

Public Liability to cover accidental damage to third-party property and compensation for injury to third parties where you are at fault. It will cover you for at least £2,000,000 and includes:

- legal costs
- cover for volunteers
- temporary visits abroad
- costs incurred in ensuring compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998 – fines, penalties and the cost of changing data are excluded
- contingent motor liability for volunteers, this is one-off, emergency cover and does not cover regular business use
- costs incurred in ensuring compliance with the Defective Premises Act 1972
- compensation for court attendance by directors, employees or volunteers as a witness in connection with a claim under this cover

- financial loss suffered by a third party as a result of a negligent or accidental error committed by an employee or volunteer
- products liability
- terrorism up to £5,000,000 providing cover for injuries to third parties or damage to property incurred as a result of a terrorist act.

Personal Accident

Personal Accident provides compensation if a volunteer is injured or assaulted while working for you. This insurance can cover:

- accidents and assault or just accidents
- official duties in connection with the business or organisation, including commuting.

Money

Money insurance cover is useful if your volunteers handle money at work, take money to the bank and/or if you have an overnight safe on your premises.

This cover includes:

- any loss of notes, coins, bill of exchange, luncheon vouchers, uncrossed cheques, Giro cheques, postal orders, postage stamps, etc belonging to you or for which you have responsibility
- up to £500 for damage to personal effects following a robbery
- replacement cost of franking machines, safes, strong rooms or security cases damaged as a result of a robbery
- up to £1,000 to replace safe or strong room locks made necessary by theft of keys (except where the keys have been left on premises closed for business purposes)
- personal accident cover for people assaulted while entrusted with money.

3. Do you have property and contents you want to protect?

If you have offices, shops and warehouses you can cover the buildings and contents with a Material Damage policy. The policy will cover damage to buildings and/or contents for repair or reinstatement and includes:

- 'new for old' cover
- architects, surveyors, and legal fees
- removal of debris (site clearance)
- newly acquired items/alterations to existing items up to £50,000
- computer system records up to £10,000
- personal effects and tools of any director, employee, volunteer, customer or visitor up to £1,000 per person provided they are not insured elsewhere
- the amount you are covered for increases each year automatically in line with buildings inflation
- up to £500 for replacement of locks following theft of keys.
- items in the open or portable items, for example laptops and cameras
- 'new for old' (reinstatement) cover
- loss, damage, theft and accidental damage.

Business Interruption

As well as protecting your property and contents you can also protect against the additional costs or loss of income that can occur as a result of damage to building and contents with Business Interruption insurance. For example:

- additional expenses, for example hiring alternative premises
- loss of revenue, for example revenue from stock or rent from premises leased out
- accountants' charges necessary to quantify a loss
- denial of access causing a material loss.

All Risks

All Risks insurance can be added to Material Damage insurance to protect either all or specified items eg. laptops against loss or damage. This insurance operates anywhere in Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Isle of Man and the Channel Islands. The cover is not restricted to the premises, it also includes:

Engineering

In addition to material damage we can cover damage to equipment such as hot water boilers, air-conditioning units or lifts that require regular inspections with our Engineering insurance.

This insurance covers:

- damage to the equipment and own surrounding property up to £500,000
- reasonable additional costs necessary up to £3,000 to carry out temporary repairs
- the cost of removing debris.

If you are concerned about the threat of a terrorist act you can take out Terrorism insurance. This protects against loss or damage to property caused by acts of terrorism including biological, chemical or nuclear devices.

- We can provide quotes up to 42 days before the cover can start.
- Cover is available for properties in England, Scotland and Wales.
- Cover is also available for properties in the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man but is restricted to £5,000,000.

Deterioration of Stock

If you have stock in kitchens or shops that requires refrigeration you can consider

Deterioration of Stock insurance cover.

This includes:

- reasonable costs incurred to avoid further damage or obtaining a condemnation certificate
- loss or damage caused by refrigerant fumes
- It will automatically pay you the amount insured following a claim of £1,000 or less.

4. Do you work and communicate with the public and volunteers?

If you are in contact with the public, volunteers or people from outside the organisation you can cover against accidental damage to third party property and compensation for injury to third parties, where you are at fault, with Public Liability insurance.

This is a core insurance product with a minimum level of cover of £2,000,000 and includes:

- legal costs
- cover for volunteers
- temporary visits abroad
- costs incurred in ensuring compliance with the Data Protection Act 1998 – fines, penalties and the cost of changing data are excluded
- contingent motor liability for volunteers, this is one-off, emergency cover and does not cover regular business use
- costs incurred in ensuring compliance with the Defective Premises Act 1972
- compensation for court attendance by directors, employees or volunteers as a witness in connection with a claim under this cover
- financial loss suffered by a third party as a result of a negligent or accidental error committed by an employee or volunteer
- products liability

- terrorism up to £5,000,000 providing cover for injuries to third parties or damage to property incurred as a result of a terrorist act.

Trustee and Trust Fund Liability Insurance

If you have a board of trustees, committee members or directors you can consider taking Trustee and Trust Fund Liability insurance. Trustee and Trust Fund Liability insurance protects you if your board members are alleged to have acted wrongly in their duty towards your organisation or if there is a breach of trust in accordance with your governing document (constitution). This insurance covers:

- damages and claimants, costs
- defence costs.

Professional Negligence

If you provide services to third parties with which you have a contract or for which you charge a fee you can purchase Professional Negligence insurance. If an employee, in their professional capacity accidentally makes an error or omission in a design or specification, or when giving advice or providing treatment that results in a third party suffering a loss, this insurance will cover that loss. It:

- operates anywhere in Great Britain, Northern Ireland, Isle of Man and the Channel Islands
- covers all services declared to us in the proposal form
- covers losses arising from any warranty or guarantee which we have discussed and accepted.

Hirer's Liability

If you have to hire premises, Hirer's Liability insurance will cover against damage to other third party property and compensation for injury to third parties where they are at fault. Cover includes legal costs up to £2,000,000, although this can be increased to £5,000,000 if required. Terrorism cover is also available up to £5,000,000.

Libel and Slander

You may also consider Libel and Slander cover. This covers compensation sought by a third party where you have to pay damages for libel (written) or slander (spoken) in the course of your business. It covers:

- employees, committee members, trustees or directors
- claims made during the policy period or notified within 12 months of cover expiring.

5. Does your organisation own or use motor vehicles?

Motor insurance is a legal requirement for motor vehicles owned or leased by you or hired to others. The policy covers:

- authorised business use and social domestic and pleasure use
- passenger liability
- automatic cover while travelling in or through the European Union
- legal expenses and motor uninsured loss recovery service following a claim up to £100,000
- personal effects up to £150
- medical expenses up to £250 per person as a result of an accident
- terrorism up to £5,000,000.

We can also provide cover for:

- protection for No Claims Discount or excess
- occasional business use
- trailers while attached to or detached from an insured vehicle.
